

Making Predictions: A prediction is a reasonable guess as to what might happen.

Sami's Curious Collection

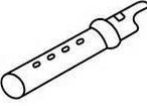

Sami likes collecting things
From rocks to shells to rusty springs.

Some things are soft and smooth and small;
Others are tough and rough and tall.

When he gets home from such a day
He likes to sort and count away.

Directions: Look at the pictures in each row. Based on what you know about the storybook character, predict what you think each would collect. Color the pictures that each would collect; put an X on the picture that does not belong.
