

Animal Tracks in the Snow

Some animals like warm weather and some animals like cold weather. Color the animals below that you think like cold weather.

There are people who live in the snow. These people used to be called Eskimos but are now called Inuit, which means “people.” They live in Alaska, Greenland and northern Canada.

Inuit traditionally live in tents but build igloos or snow huts when they go hunting in the winter. They spend a lot of time fishing.
